Introduction

Economic, social and environmental change is inherent to development. Whilst development aims to bring about positive change it can lead to conflicts. Environmental impact assessment (EIA) is a process of identifying, predicting, evaluating, and mitigating the biophysical, social, and other relevant effects of proposed projects and physical activities prior to major decisions and commitments being made. EIA is a statutory requirement for most developmental and industrial activities in our country. It is also being progressively used by financial institutions to assess the soundness of investment in a given project.

EIA is an important tool to inform decision-makers, regulators and stakeholders, about the possible environmental, social and economic costs of the proposed project. To be effective, it requires the active involvement of all concerned stakeholders.

Broad Objectives

- Get awareness of the concept and development of EIA.
- Get aware of the purpose and role of EIA in decision making process
- Understand the role of EIA in environmental management.
- Know the options for estimating various environmental impacts
- Understand the technical/social/political limitations of EIA

Course Content

- Concept and Evolution of EIA
- Notifications in EIA
- Processes and Methods involved in EIA
- Environment Management Systems, Life Cycle Assessment etc.
